KageHina:Dream

by hawa-chan

Summary: It must be a dream, a long, long dream. Yet...what if it's real? Kageyama and Hinata's daily life are supposed to be ordinary and peace, yet an incident happens that almost separate them for years.

KageHina:Dream

Where am I? The petite body thought as he opens his eyes. Everything around him is cloudy. He stands up to get closer look on at this place. _Kageyama? Everyone?_ He calls for them as loud as he could yet no answer. He starts to get scared, and lonely. Why? Why there's nobody here?

Hinata runs around the area but everything is clear. Nothing. Forget human beings, there's not even a single tiny object resides on that area. What happen? Where is he? He tries to remember how he got here. He recalls that it happens a few years ago.

>"Hinata, recently you're hiding something," Kageyama said while eating his bun. The pale boy was being electrified as his secret is almost being uncovered by his partner since first year of high school. "What are you saying? I'm not hiding anything!"

Right now, they have been in third year at Karasuno. Kageyama was the newest captain of volleyball team while Hinata was a vice captain. They supposed to have a happy and ordinary life together. However, nobody knows that this daily life will end.

"No, you definitely hide something!" Kageyama pulled the shorter boy towards him and realized something. "Hinata, you're pale." Hinata is shocked. And what's moreâ€¦"Hinataâ€¦you got a nosebleedâ€¦"

Suddenly, everything turned white for Hinata. His knees became weak and he fell on Kageyama's arm. _Wait…not here…not when he's here…_ As he lost his consciousness, all he can remember was Kageyama's voice who called for him over and over again.

>"I...I'm dead? No! I can't die yet!" Hinata shouts in agony. Yes, there's no way that he will die this fast, because…because…_"I didn't even confess my feeling to Kageyama yet! I didn't even tell that I like him yet! I…I don't want to die!"_

Suddenly, he heard someone is calling for him.

Hinata!

"Hinata!"

"HINATA!"

Hinata opens his eyes. He found himself in a white room with a lot of machines where every wire are connected to his body. And what's more, an oxygen mask is wrapped on his face.

"Hinata!"

The voice becomes clear. Hinata tries to look at his right. His eyes are widened. Kageyama Tobio…no it's not him. There's no way that he's that tall right? So, who is that guy? He looks a lot like Kageyama though.

"Hinata!" Hinata is shocked. That voice…it's really Kageyama! Kageyama grips Hinata's hand and kiss the shorter's forehead. Hinata blushes. "It's…it's really you…"

Tears run from Hinata's eyes. "Ka…ge…ya…ma!"

Hinata…I love you…please don't leave me again…

>Sloppy story for starting, right? Well, I always want to write Haikyuu fanfic so what I did was to make one. I know that this one is quite simple, and maybe with a lot of grammatical problems that I didn't even realize. So if you have a comment, please give me a review. I promise that next time I'll do more detail one (can't guarantee the grammar quality though). Okay, see you with next works. Bye.
